An Evening with Michael Krasny:
Are We Really Funny?

Wednesday, December 19, 7:00 – 9:00 pm, Martin Meyer Sanctuary

NPR host and author Michael Krasny will discuss Jewish humor in its many forms of expression throughout the eras. Our jokes can best be understood as narratives of Jewish history and identity. You’ll hear about the great Jewish comedians, Yiddish comedy traditions, and how Jewish humor has benefitted and continues to serve the Jewish people (as well as those outside the tribe). Look forward to learning and laughing!
In 1993, a hate crime in Billings, Montana caught the nation’s attention when a rock was thrown through a window of a Jewish home that displayed Chanukah decorations. In response, many of the town’s Christians (as well as secularists) stood in solidarity with their Jewish neighbors by placing images of Chanukah menorahs in their own windows. This “Not in our Town” movement stood against white supremacists attempting to normalize racial hatred in that region of the country.

We Jews know that anti-Semitism is always around and can rise up at any time. To hope that it will ever be eradicated is to be naïve to the reality that it is so easy for people to hate the “other.” However, what was amazing about the response in Billings is that the majority of residents actively rejected that expression of hate. By putting Chanukiah images in their own windows, they made it abundantly clear that anti-Semitic behavior would not be tolerated.

I sensed the same type of clarity in late October when hundreds of people lined up outside our temple as we held an interfaith vigil following the anti-Semitic murders in the Pittsburgh synagogue.

Good people of all faiths (and of no faith) gathered to say “we stand as one” against bigotry and violence.

The work we must do now — at a time in which easy access to social media, combined with presidential leadership that obstinately refuses to acknowledge the power of the bully pulpit to both encourage and reject such acts of hatred — is to keep working against the push to normalize hate speech that leads to violence. We must continue to call on our president to stop fomenting xenophobia. We must also reach out to our neighbors for support, as we at the temple work on ongoing security efforts to ensure that this synagogue is a safe place for all.

We cannot and will not be silent. We cannot and will not be afraid! Together we can push back hate!

In their day, the Maccabees stood up against intolerance and hate, as they refused to be pushed aside by the greater powers. Chanukah celebrates that courage and that love of Jewish identity. Today, the actions of the Maccabees should inspire us as we stand up proudly for our uniqueness. In 2018, Chanukah is more important than ever.

I ask that, this year, as the Talmud teaches, you place your chanukiah in the window for all eight nights of the holiday. Like the Maccabees, let all the world see that you are proud of your identity! And please join us for our public Chanukah menorah lightings in Laurel Village, Tiburon, and Noe Valley.

The congregation in Billings moved into a synagogue in 2005, one that was actually built to look like a synagogue. Sue Fishkoff of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency quoted the congregants as stating, “that wouldn’t have happened years ago...Neither would the three-mile, public Torah procession that accompanied the move...We are much more visible. We’re not hiding.”

During Chanukah this month, let us be proud, let us be filled with joy, and let us not be afraid to say Hinenu! Here we are! — proud Jewish San Franciscans who stand against hate, who stand for peace and for casting the light of hope from our windows and from our very being!

Recipe

Edible Chanukah Candles

Servings: 8
Prep: 5 minutes
Total: 5 minutes

INGREDIENTS:

for the dough: make your own or use frozen pizza, pita, tortillas or crepes for the candle: hearts of palm, celery, bananas for the flames: pimento, dried red pepper, slivered almond, sliced strawberries for the filling: lox spread, strawberry cream cheese

DIRECTIONS:

1. Cut your dough of choice into 4-inch squares. Spray with oil and lightly fry in a pan over medium heat for 30 seconds on each side. Make sure the dough does not get too crispy—it will make it harder to roll into candles.

2. Spread filling of choice in the center of dough square and roll up into a cylinder that looks like a candle.

3. Add an edible flame, and you’re done! Chef’s Tip: My favorite combinations include:
   - Lox spread-stuffed candle with a pimento flame
   - Celery and lox spread candle with a pimento flame
   - Strawberry cream cheese-stuffed Candle with a strawberry flame
   - Banana candle with an almond flame.

Traditional Chanukah Songs

One of the traditions of celebrating Chanukah is to sing songs after the candles have been lit. We’ve included some of the most time-honored Chanukah folk songs, so you can sing along!

Ma’oz Tzur
Ma’oz tzur yeshu’ati,
lecha na’eh leshabe’ach,
tikon beit tefilati,
vesham todah nezabe’ach.
Le’et tachin matbe’ach
mitzar hamenabe’ach.
Az egmor
beshir mizmor
chanukat hamizbe’ach

English Translation:
My refuge, my rock of salvation!
It is a pleasure to sing Your praises.
Let our house of prayer be restored.
And there we will offer You our thanks.
When You will have prepared the slaughter
Of the barking foe,
Then we will celebrate with song and psalm
The dedication of the altar.

Chanukah Oh Chanukah
Oh Chanukah, Oh Chanukah
Come light the menorah
Let’s have a party
We’ll all dance the horah
Gather ‘round the table
We’ll give you a treat
Dreidels to play with
And latkes to eat.
And while we
Are playing
The candles are burning low
One for each night
They shed a sweet light
To remind us of days long ago.

I Have a Little Dreidel
I have a little dreidel
I made it out of clay
And when it’s dry and ready
Then dreidel I shall play!
Oh dreidel, dreidel, dreidel
I made it out of clay
And when it’s dry and ready
Then dreidel I shall play!
It has a lovely body
With legs so short and thin
And when my dreidel’s tired
It drops and then I win!
(Chorus)
My dreidel’s always playful
It loves to dance and spin
A happy game of dreidel
Come play now, let’s begin!

Chanukah Craft: Tissue Paper Cut-Outs

You’ll Need:
■ tissue paper
■ pinking shears
■ glue

How To:
Cut strips of tissue paper of varying heights, but all the same length. Measure the diameter of the vase/hurricane.
Fold strips accordion style, and cut out shapes on the fold, such that the shape repeats itself across the strip once unfolded.
Layer strips such that contrasting colors appear within the cut out shapes. Adhere with glue. To avoid glue dots being visible, brush on glue with a brush.

A Guide to Lighting Your Menorah

We light the menorah for eight days to remember the miracle of the human spirit, honor the light of rededication and the Maccabees who put their trust in God. Small lights push back darkness just as a small vial of oil for eight nights helped redeem our hope.

What kind of menorah?
The menorah can be any size and made of any material. All eight candles (except the Shamash) should be at the same height, and preferably in a straight line.

How many candles?
One candle is added each of the eight nights — plus the extra helper candle called the “Shamash” (the center candle). Arrange the candles from right to left and light the newest candle first.

Why 8?
Chanukah is celebrated 8 days even though the miracle of the oil was really only 7 (the first day’s light shouldn’t count — it’s natural) to teach us that everything in the ‘natural’ world is really a miracle. Nothing happens without God willing it.

Where to light?
To publicize the miracle, many light the menorah outside their front doorway. Otherwise, the menorah should be lit in a window facing the street.

What to light?
The candles must be big enough to burn for at least 30 minutes. Many use olive oil, to recall the original miracle in the Temple.

How to light?
Light the Shamash first and use the Shamash to light the newest candle first.

Recite the blessings

When to light?
The first opportunity to light is at nightfall. Many wait until later, when all the members of the household are present.

Who lights?
In Ashkenazi tradition, each person lights his own menorah. Sephardic tradition is one menorah per family.

EMANU-EL SPOTLIGHT

On giving back to the Jewish community — an interview with Lani Zinn
by Byron Gordon

One thing Emanu-El has never fallen short on is leadership. As a pivotal center of Jewish life in the San Francisco Bay Area, Emanu-El has grown over the decades to serve the diverse Jewish community here. As we close out 2018, Lani Zinn will officially step down as development director, a post she’s served for 17 years.

Lani’s work in the Jewish community extends back to the early 1980s when she became assistant director for the San Francisco Chapter of the American Committee for Weizmann Institute of Science. She later served as San Francisco Bay Area assistant director for the American Jewish Committee, and eventually managed all fundraising and membership facilities at Congregation Rodef Sholom before arriving at Congregation Emanu-El.

As Emanu-El’s principal fundraiser, Lani has cemented relationships with many of our most supportive members and helped secure the funds needed to grow and expand our synagogue’s numerous offerings. How can you sum up a professional career devoted to Jewish life and culture in one word? You can’t. But we wanted to hear more from Lani about her Jewish journey as she prepares to embark on the next chapter of her life. Please join us at the 6:00 pm service and oneg on December 14 when we will honor Lani’s 17 years of service.

Byron: What’s going through your mind right now?
Lani: Tremendously mixed feelings. I so much love working here. I love my job and love the community I serve, so that actually waking up next January and not getting ready for work is going to be difficult but exciting at the same time. I think ultimately it will be great. Fortunately, I will always remain a member here as it feels like my second home. Maybe I’ll start volunteering for a change (laughter).

Byron: You majored in anthropology while a student at U.C. Berkeley. You went on to pursue two teaching credentials along with a Master of Arts in Education Curriculum Development. Culminating your professional career as someone who fundraises for Emanu-El, was this the logical place for you to have ended up?
Lani: I think so. My primary drive has always been to support Jewish continuity, which is ultimately what fundraising is for, as it is an essential component in helping perpetuate that. So yes, it’s a combination of giving back to the Jewish community, which I feel so blessed to be part of, and helping to create a healthy future for Judaism here in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Byron: What do you enjoy most about fundraising?
Lani: The connections with people. It’s all about relationships. Since I’ve worked almost exclusively in the San Francisco community (with an exception of 7 years in Marin), I’ve loved to strategically apply the knowledge I’ve accumulated about this community — relationships, friendships, and family connections — in figuring out how to motivate our members to support such a phenomenal organization as Emanu-El.

Byron: Any gift or two that stand out, in particular, that you helped secure?
Lani: I’m proud to have worked on helping to procuring our endowed chair for the senior rabbis, the Richard and Rhoda Goldman Senior Rabbinic Chair, which will support in perpetuity our senior rabbis, and also the Ben and A. Jess Shenson Cantor position that honors the legacy of members who were great supporters of our rich musical tradition.
In addition to the fundraising, I have to highlight the Year of Torah project. Beginning in 2005 at Simchat Torah and leading up to Shavuot in 2006, as a congregation we wrote the first 986 letters of a new Torah with the help of an able scribe. It was a spiritual experience for anyone that had the honor of participating. The rest of the Torah was written by a second scribe in Jerusalem.

The congregation’s handiwork was stitched together with that of the Jerusalem scribe and I will always think (it was an 18-month project) of that Torah like my second child. It was a labor of love and we raised a significant amount of money, more than $800 thousand. We couldn’t have been more thrilled with the project. But it also was a very interesting spiritual experience. All living temple past presidents came to scribe, including Louis Heilbron, of blessed memory, who was in his 90s at the time, and his great effort to get to where the scribe was waiting with quill in hand is something I’ll never forget. It was a touching and moving moment. Also, my daughter and my father scribed their letters in the Torah right next to each other and I carry both that l’dor vador moment and scribed image deep in my heart. That’s been the blessing of this institution for me. I’ve had the opportunity to have my own Shehecheyanu moments here, which is not something most people can say about their work. I’m talking about experiencing profound moments, as a professional here! What more could you want?

Byron: You mentioned your time spent on Kibbutz Evron. What was that experience like?

Lani: In a word, amazing. I worked with two other women each day making the main meal of the day for the 400 members of the kibbutz. As the kibbutz raised turkeys, I learned to prepare it in many creative ways, including turkey meatballs, turkey schnitzel, turkey moussaka...it was a wonderful time to be in Israel. That spring was the 25th birthday of the Jewish State and the mood was celebratory. I left before the war broke out later that year.

Byron: You’ve been a participant in a local Torah study group for many years now. What has it meant to you?

Lani: My Torah study group began meeting 29 years ago and continues to this day. We meet once a month at each other’s homes to nosh and schmooze, and then study the Torah portion for the week. As we all come away with new insights on a portion discussed most likely many times before, it in a constant reminder that we continue to view life through an ever-changing lens.

Byron: You mentioned to me that your father was dismissive of Reform Judaism for much of his life. Did he ever change his mind?

Lani: My 96-year-old dad was raised as an Orthodox Jew, but practiced Conservative Judaism for the 72+ years that he was married to my mother. He always thought that Reform Judaism wasn’t quite real Judaism, but before he passed, he eventually changed his thinking and gained a very healthy respect for it, as his children have rich Jewish lives as Reform Jews.

Byron: Any last words?

Lani: I’d just like to thank the members of the congregation for enriching my life over these many years. It has been an honor to work with our wonderful clergy, amazing lay leadership, caring staff, and fabulous members. Thank you.

Tzedek Council

Interfaith Winter Shelter
Since 1988, the San Francisco Interfaith Council, Episcopal Community Services, and San Francisco Human Services Agency have partnered to operate the San Francisco Interfaith Winter Shelter. Designed to augment existing shelters during the coldest months of the year (Sunday before Thanksgiving through the end of February), the Interfaith Winter Shelter provides breakfast and dinner as well as a safe, warm place to sleep for up to 100 homeless men each night.

The Interfaith Winter Shelter rotates hosting locations between four congregations — St. Boniface Catholic Church, St. Mary’s Cathedral, St. Mark’s Lutheran Church, and First Unitarian Universalist Society — and each year, a significant networking effort takes place between local faith communities!

Volunteer to Help!
Each year, our dedicated congregants volunteer over the course of eight consecutive evenings to provide warm meals to the homeless men of San Francisco at St. Mark’s Lutheran Church. At the end of each evening, we give each of these gentlemen a bag of toiletries to keep. To volunteer to help with these dinners, please pick the evening that best fits your demographic, and then go to our website to register:

- Tuesday, January 22, 2019 (Congregant night)

- Tuesday, January 29, 2019 (Tzedek Council)
Jewish identity and learning both start in the home. Whether you light candles on Fridays, fry latkes in December, or host a seder for extended mishpacha, your home is a place to celebrate, create, and practice the traditions and values of our heritage. At Emanu El, our Youth and Family Education (YFE) programs aim not only to provide the basic building blocks and tools for your children to participate and connect to these rituals, but also to connect the school and temple to your family’s home life.

To that end, twice a year, each grade enjoys a “family day” in which parents come for the whole Sunday morning to:

1. Meet each other and inspire community connections beyond YFE
2. Provide an opportunity for relevant, adult Jewish learning
3. Facilitate an experience for parents and children to engage in Jewish learning together
4. Open conversations between parents and children about personal Jewish values, identity, and history
5. Soften boundaries between temple and home life and increase transparency in the classroom

We’ve already held four of these special Sunday school program days this year:

- Pre-K: Hebrew Names — Parents met in the cozy quarters of Rabbi Fenves’ office looking over Torah texts in which characters change their names, and discuss the significance of both the change and the new name. They also shared the significance of their own Hebrew names and those of their children. After the first hour, they joined their little ones in Guild Hall for a creative craft project making superhero capes, decorating them with the letters of their Hebrew names. The capes and the blessing over their children, using their Hebrew names, framed their Jewish identities as a special and super power they have inherited from the parents and carry with them out in the world.

- Kindergarten: Shema — Parents met for an hour with Rabbi Jonathan learning about the power of Jewish home rituals — ancient, modern, and even those created by their own family! After exploring various rituals and mitzvot and a bit about the evolution of Reform Judaism, they focused on the usefulness of practicing bedtime rituals with kindergarten-age children. When the two kindergarten classes rejoined the parents, they engaged in making Shema pillowcases together. The pillow covers keep this essential blessing close by, reinforcing what they learned at temple and bringing it home as a special cue to recite it together before bed.
1st Grade: History and Tour of our Temple — Parents started the morning with an incredible slide show and story-filled review of the history of Jews in the Bay Area, starting with the Gold Rush! Judi Leff has been a member of CEE since she was in 1st grade and has been our de facto historian leading these presentations for many years. After a short break for bagels and cream cheese with the kids, the YFE teachers led small groups on a scavenger hunt around the building looking for historical markers, important art work, and special features we may walk by all the time without realizing their significance. This program fits in with the 1st grade curriculum goal of feeling comfortable in the building, knowing the clergy, and knowing what it means to belong here at Emanu El.

3rd Grade: Meals on Wheels — This day was an opportunity for families to put their Jewish values into action in the world. Anne Quaintance, Meals on Wheels’ Business Development Officer and CEE member, returned for the third year in a row to deliver a presentation about the vulnerable people in San Francisco that Meals on Wheels serves. Afterwards, families carpooled directly to homes to deliver emergency supplies. On these home visits, the children had meaningful conversations with the clients, learning about their lives and feelings. Upon returning to temple, families decorated Thanksgiving table mats for a Meals on Wheels holiday delivery in November and shared with the group conversations they had had.

Coming up in December, the following program days will be held for our 2nd and 4th grade classes!

2nd Grade: San Francisco Food Bank — This will be another opportunity to see Jewish values in action. Families will meet at the Food Bank to learn about hunger in our community and then spend the rest of the morning volunteering there. It will be a hands-on, behind-the-scenes experience with tikkun olam.

4th Grade: Chanukiot — Parents will meet with Rabbi Bauer to dig more deeply into the story and tradition of Chanukah on an adult level. Then, using recycled materials and led by Art Studio Specialist Ava Rosen, families will build personalized chanukiot ready to use for the final nights of candle lighting.

As you can see, each grade’s family day experience is unique. These programs provide a chance to interact more with teachers, make friends with other parents, watch your kids interact with their temple friends, and model Jewish learning that is a life-long family practice. Each grade will have a second family day later in the school year — either in the building or on a field trip. We look forward to seeing you soon!

Holiday Dinner Drive

Send Back Your Turkey Envelopes Now, Please!

Did you know that one in four residents in San Francisco and Marin counties needs food assistance? Since 1993, Congregation Emanu-El members have come together to support the San Francisco-Marin Food Bank and its mission to end hunger in our community. Each week, Food Bank programs service more than 140,000 people through the food delivered to the 450 partner organizations, including more than 250 weekly farmers market-style food pantries. Congregation Emanu-El participates in this effort through our Healthy Children Pantry at Roosevelt Middle School.

Your contribution of $36 provides $180 worth of food. A $100 contribution will supply those in need with $500 worth of food. Let’s top last year’s $16,000 drive!

Donate online at sfmfoodbank.org/dinnerdrive and select Congregation Emanu-El from the dropdown menu. To donate by mail, make your check payable to SF-Marin Food Bank and write Congregation Emanu-El Holiday Dinner Drive on the memo line, then mail to Emanu-El at 2 Lake Street, San Francisco, CA, 94118.

Thank you for remembering to help the increasing numbers of those who are hungry in our community!

Celebrating a Shehecheyanu Moment?

Congregation Emanu-El is a partner in the transitional moments of our members’ lives. Be it a baby naming or brit milah, bar or bat mitzvah, conversion or wedding ceremony, or a recovery from illness, the Temple clergy and staff strives to ensure that each sacred “Shehecheyanu Moment” is deeply fulfilling and personal. A donation to the Emanu-El Life-Cycle Fund is a lovely way to mark a personal life-cycle experience, to honor friends or family celebrating a happy milestone or in gratitude for the services, the clergy provide during these profound moments. Please donate online at www.emanuelsf.org/donate-now/ or call the Development office at (415) 750-7554.

Many homeless people go without everyday essentials like a toothbrush, shampoo, and soap. So this December we’re collecting donations of travel-size toiletries to give to the 100 homeless men living in the Interfaith Winter Shelter in San Francisco. These toiletry bags will be gifted throughout the eight evenings in which our congregation is involved in serving meals at the shelter. The next time you go to the dentist or stay in a hotel, please ask for extra toiletry supplies to donate. Please drop off your toiletries donation in the collection bin located in the Temple Main Office Foyer.
